A “Managed Access Network” (MAN) can also easily be referred to as a “Consumer Choice Network” for the primary benefit that a MAN offers is choice. Choice for the resident, choice for the commercial occupant, flexibility for the Developer, competition for the operator.

This concept is simple, an open market economy, and open market development.

Fixed Network Solutions

- ISM has revolutionised the delivery of communication cabling on business campuses by introducing a micro duct system to allow for blown fibre solutions.
- Our system future proofs a development by efficient management of capacity and with its ability to deploy a wider variety communication of products.

"The Micro Duct system reduces "Last Mile" costs while optimizing system flexibility for future fiber installations."

What is a Blown Fibre Solution

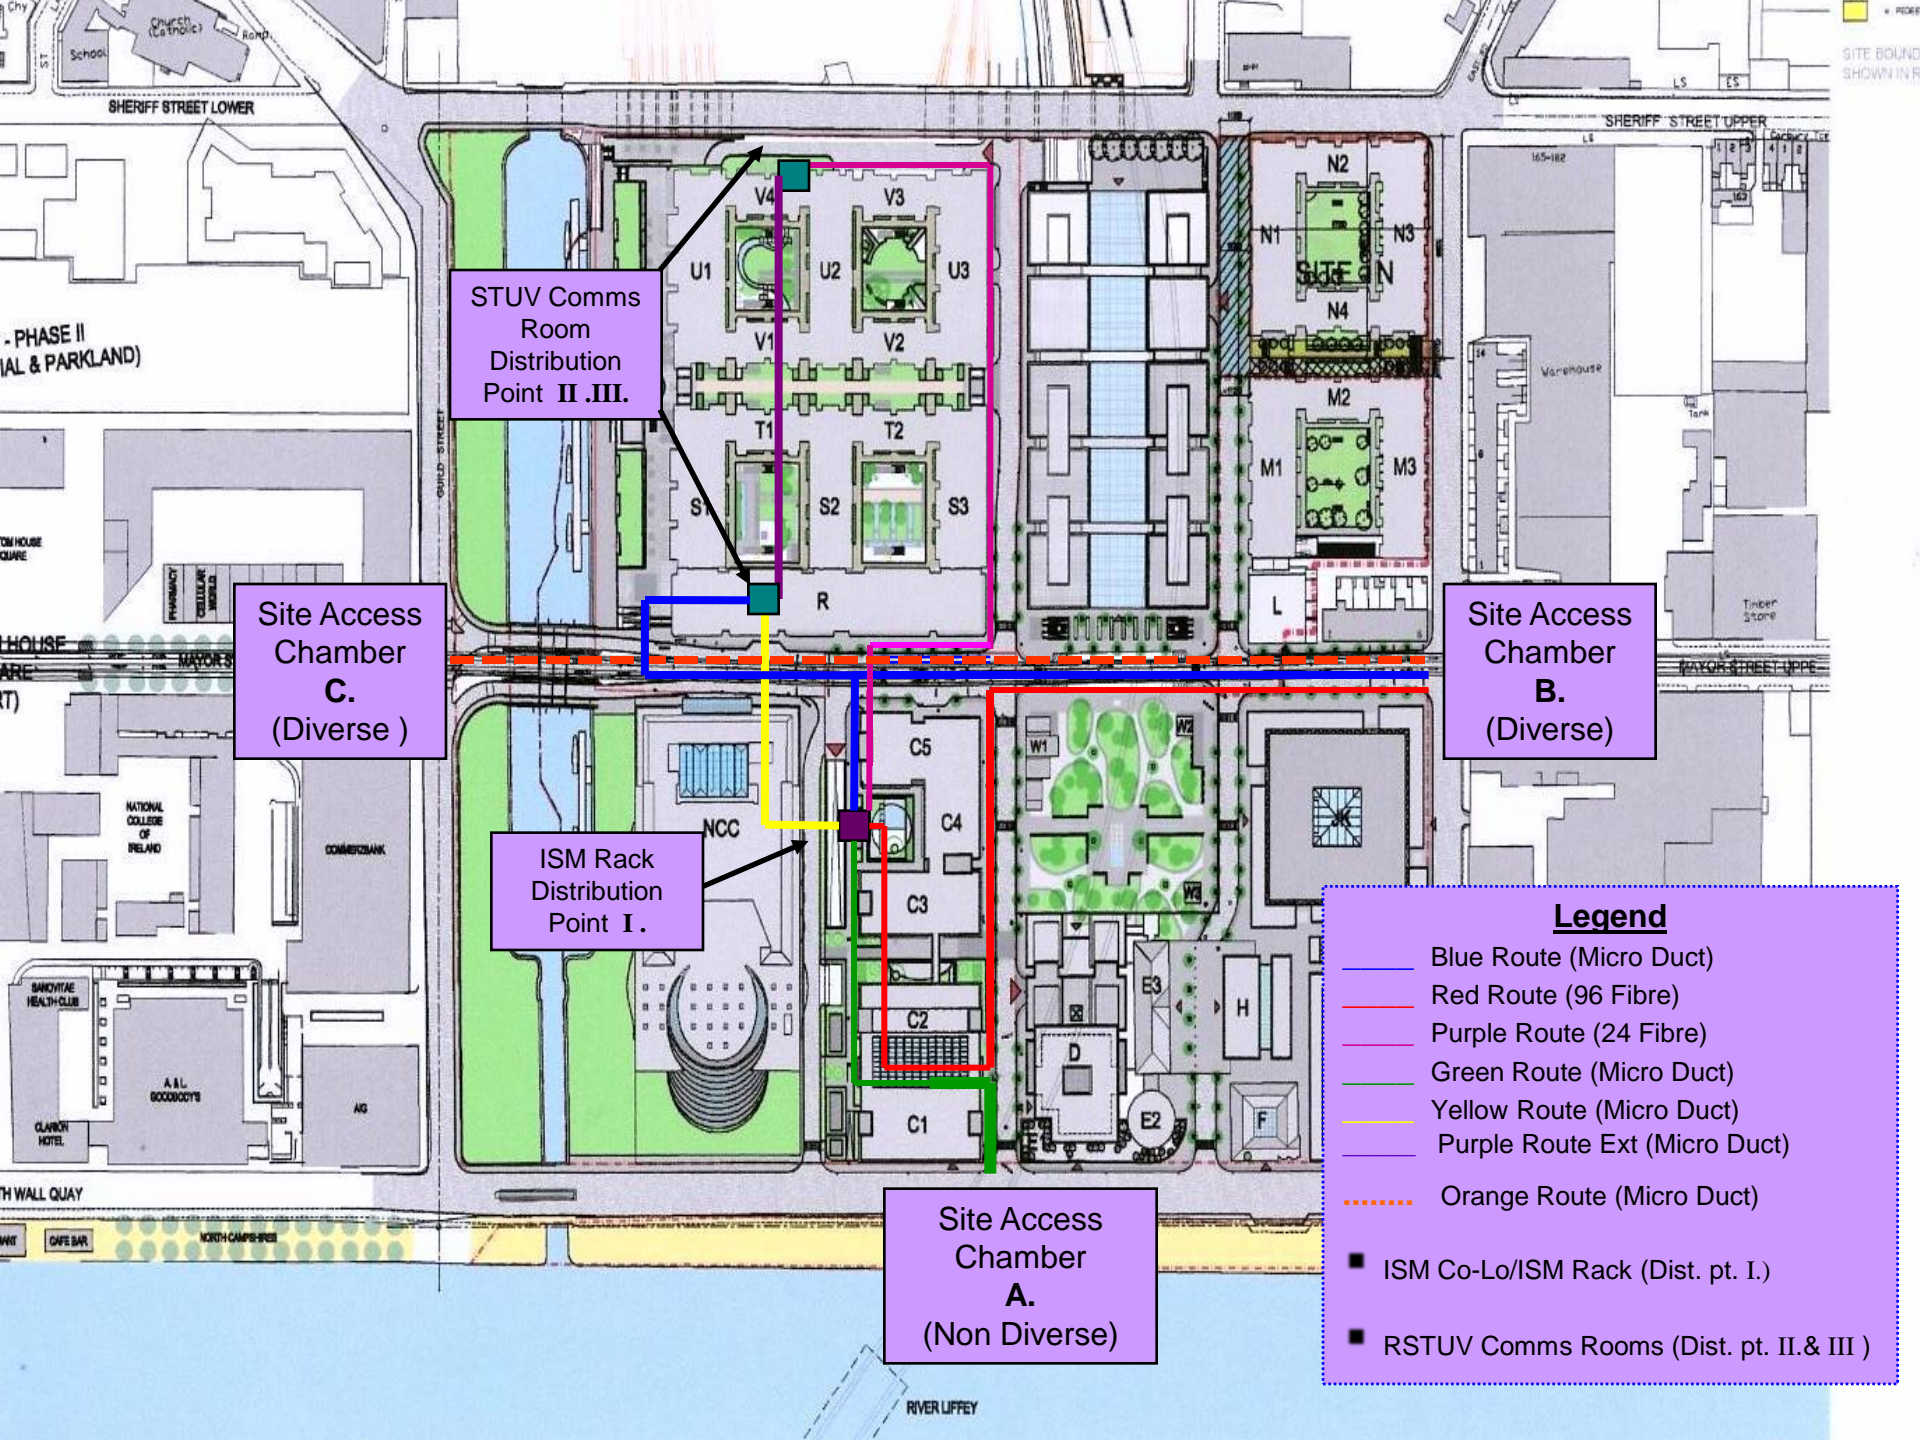

- Air-blown fibre is a method of installing fibre optic cables
- It relies on the flow of compressed air easing the fibre all the way to its destination through the micro-ducting
- It can deliver fibre up to sometimes 3km away.
